

Architects create technical drawings called floor plans. A floor plan shows the view of a room or building from above.

Explain what you think the room shown in this floor plan could be used for:
