

DEFINITION: A parabola is the set of points that are equal distance from a fixed point (called the focus) and a fixed line (called the directrix).

1. Find the y-value of a point on a parabola when the x-value is 5.

2. Are your methods to find the y-value the same as Keoni and Sasha's? If they are different, why do both methods work?

"Student Worksheet: Lesson 4 Episode 2" by MathTalk is licensed under CC BY-NC-SA 4.0